

Many trading “systems” are advertised on the web, and in the many financial newsletters. Most of these “systems” boast “mechanical” trades based on quantitative analysis. Yawn. Most are not anything near this.

At www.bluechipoptions.com and our sister site www.oexoptions.com we use a unique bell curve analysis that analyzes overbought and oversold conditions, much like a form of true “card counting”.

Any “system” you review should be able to be schematically and with logic of “what will be done “If”.

Here’s the logistics of how we trend analyze.

CARD COUNTING / THE LOGIC OF THE BIAS, AND THE BUY
